

GOOD WORK
BY RELIANCECup Defender Shows Up
Well in a Blow.

DIDN'T MIND SPLASHING

Constitution Avoided Race in Trial
Off Glen Cove, N. Y.,
Saturday.

New Rochelle, N. Y., May 4.—Although plainly invited by C. Oliver Iselin and the Reliance, the Constitution, last year's unsuccessful candidate for the choice of defending the America's cup, refused a brush with her new and speedy rival on the latter's latest trial.

Mr. Iselin had taken the Reliance across the sound to Glen Cove, where the older boat out for a test of speed, and must have been much disappointed at the failure.

The Reliance had been lying at anchor in Glen Cove after a morning spin down the sound and back. She was got under way and started off along the Long Island shore seven miles to the eastward.

There was a twelve knot wind from the south and a smooth sea, ideal conditions.

The Constitution remained at the cove with her mainsail up and head sails in stays until the Reliance was half way back. Then the Belmont boat began to jog back and forth off the cove under mainsail and two head sails.

The Reliance was carrying three lower sails and a working topsail and was plainly hurrying back like a thoroughbred willing and anxious for a race.

They Appeared to Be Racing.

When she met the Constitution, she was promptly put about, and beam and beam they started on a reach and what looked to be the first chance to compare the relative merits of the two craft.

They ran abreast of each other half a mile or more apart for only half a minute when just as it was beginning to look as though the extra canvas of the newer boat was drawing her away from the older one the Constitution came about and headed back toward the cove.

The Reliance was kept on her course for a short distance and then squared away for home. In half an hour she had crossed the sound, carrying her spinnaker most of the way, and came to her anchorage.

The new boat left her moorings here for the first spin of the day in a snappy easterly breeze that flicked the sound with whitecaps and, with an oblique running out against it, kicked up a short, sharp chop. It was a rougher sea than any in which she had yet been tested and gave an opportunity to show what might be expected of her long low overhang in a choppy sea. It splashed considerably, but did not stop her in the least.

Once clear of Echo bay, the easterly breeze laid her down to her sailing lines, and she went off to windward down the sound at a fast clip. In three long legs and forty-five minutes of sailing, in which she seemed flitting about the sound like a tall ghost, she covered nine miles of windward work. Then she kept off and ran up to Glen Cove to coax the Constitution to give her a brush.

Turbines For English Channel Use.

A new steamer to be propelled by steam turbines was recently launched at Dumbarton, Scotland, from the yard of Messrs. Denny Bros. for the cross channel service of the South-eastern and Chatham railway, says Nature. The new vessel is of the same type, though larger, as the vessels which have been successful on the Clyde. The machinery will consist of Parsons' turbines, three being fitted with three lines of shafting. In maneuvering the center shaft runs free, and the two side shafts then take the place of ordinary twin screws. The builders have undertaken that this vessel shall have an average sea speed of 21 knots, and it is expected that the vessel will perform the voyage from Dover to Calais in forty-five to fifty minutes.

MACHINISTS' STRIKE
STILL UNSETTLED

Hitch is on Number of Machine One Man Shall Operate in Shop.

The difficulties between the members of the Machinists' union and their employers are still unsettled. An entire bill of prices has been agreed upon, but there is one point on which there is a disagreement. That is on the number of machines one man shall operate. On this point the men are willing that their employers shall double up on four machines, the kinds of machines to be stipulated, with one man on each of the other machines providing there are any; or that one man shall run one machine and go on the bench.

On this point the employers want one man to run one or more machines as the foreman may direct.

The men withdrew from their original demand of $3.10 a day minimum and are willing to take $2. The other parts agreed upon but not signed are, the shops shall be unionized.

A nine hour day shall constitute a day's work, for overtime, time and a quarter from five to nine in the evening, time and a half after nine, double time for Sundays and time and a half for holidays.

All grievances to be submitted to arbitration. No discrimination on grievance committees. A five cent increase for all journeymen. Apprentices to serve four years, one for shop and one extra for every five men. No helper or handman to be advanced to the detriment of machinists or apprentices.

The agreement to run for one year.

JUMPED INTO CISTERN.

Burlington Inmate at Poor Farm Committed Suicide.

Burlington, May 3.—An unfortunate affair occurred at the poor farm Saturday, when one of the inmates, Francis Metcalf, committed suicide by throwing himself into a cistern near the house. Miss Metcalf's mind has been in an unsettled state for some time and her actions have been watched more or less closely. The first attendants knew of the act was when another of the inmates calmly announced that a woman had jumped into the cistern and something had better be done about it. The body was immediately removed but life was extinct. The cistern was about six feet in depth, having at the bottom about three feet of water.

FROM THE OVERSEER.

L. H. Thurston Makes Statement Concerning a Case.

Editor Times: Those poor starving children discovered by a woman who pays taxes, and trotted out for the edification of the public in your issue of Saturday. Now, Mr. Editor, if it will not be asking too much, will you please print the following list of supplies furnished this family for their use in the month of April?

March 30—1 sack flour, 1-2 bushel potatoes, 5 lbs. lard, 3 lbs. sugar, 1 lb. butter, 2 qts. beans, 1 package Macaroni, 12 eggs, 4 lbs. beef, 2 lbs. fresh fish, 1-2 lb. tea, 1 lb. soda, 1 box crackers, 1 bag salt, 25¢ worth soap.

April 6—1-4 bushel potatoes, 1 lb. butter, 3 lbs. sugar, 12 eggs, 4 lbs. beef, 1 package Macaroni, 5 lbs. oat meal, 1 box crackers, 1 gallon kerosene oil.

April 12—1-2 bushel potatoes, 5 lbs. sugar, 2 lbs. butter, 12 eggs, 6 lbs. beef, 2 packages Macaroni, 2 lbs. fresh fish, 1 gallon kerosene oil.

April 20—1-2 bushel potatoes, 2 lbs. butter, 5 lbs. sugar, 4 lbs. beef, 2-2 lb. tea, 3 lbs. prunes, 2 lbs. fresh fish, 1 package wheat, 12 eggs, 1 gallon kerosene oil.

April 27—1 sack flour, 1-2 bushel potatoes, 5 lbs. sugar, 5 lbs. lard, 4 lbs. beef, 12 eggs, 1 package Macaroni, 3 lbs. rice, 1 gallon kerosene oil, 1 box crackers, 2 lbs. fresh fish, 1 package cocoa, 3 lbs. prunes, 2 lbs. butter.

I do not ask the woman that pays taxes to take my books for the truth of these supplies. If she will step into Sowden & Lyons' store I think they will vouch for the list. I will say these are not all of the articles that have been requested by the head of the family, but in my judgment they were all that were necessary, and perhaps all that the woman who pays taxes would wish to help pay for. My books are open at all times for inspection by the proper authority and they show as expended on this family in the month of March $47.85, in the month of April $44.72.

As for the weak and debilitated condition of these children I will refer you to Dr. R. W. Newton, the attending physician. No doubt it is very serious for he has in the past three months run up the enormous bill of $2.00 in these cases. But if his judgment is not that a good application of soap and water to remove the accumulated superfluity from the outside of his patients would be more beneficial than any drugs he can fire into the inside of the same, I shall not consider him a suitable doctor to handle critical cases in the future.

And now just a personal word to the woman that pays taxes, if you will make the city of Barre whole for what you have been helped as a pauper, I will return to you two fold every cent of taxes you ever paid into the city treasury. L. H. Thurston, Overseer of Poor.

GODDARD
DEFEATEDNorwich Won Opening Game.

WAS CLOSE THROUGHOUT

Score Was 11 to 10—Goddard Showed Up Well in Field But Batted Weakly.

The Goddard Seminary base ball team opened its season on the home campus Saturday afternoon with a game with Norwich university, in which the Norwich team was victorious by the close score of 11 to 10.

There was a good sized and very enthusiastic crowd present to witness the game, which was exceedingly interesting from start to finish, except for some loose playing at times by both teams.

Goddard played a very encouraging game for the first one of the season, although a good many errors were made, several of which were made from lack of coaching, which emphasizes the fact that the team ought to have had a coach at the beginning of their practice.

Lewis, the new pitcher for Goddard, pitched a fair game and although fifteen hits were made off him he managed to keep them scattered most of the time, so that they were not very effective. Most of Norwich's runs were made on errors by Goddard's infield, Buchanan behind the bat played an excellent game, allowing only one man to steal second during the game.

Umpire Frank Brown called the game at 3:30 and the home team took the field and Norwich went out on a strike out and two assists to first.

Berry came to the bat for the Seminary and sent a hot grounder to third who fumbled. Buchanan went out on a hit to pitcher and Berry got second. Fraser struck out. Seaver made a safe hit and Berry went to third, coming in later on a passed ball by catcher. Grant went out on a hit to pitcher. Score 1 to 0.

Second inning. Chase got first on a safe hit but was put out trying to steal second. Norwich made three safe hits in this inning but failed to score. Lewis struck out the third man with the bases full. Smith and Murray both struck out and Goddard then made three runs. Butler, the next man up, hit to third who fumbled. Butler stole second and third. Lewis got first on balls and Butler scored on a fumbled throw to third and Lewis went to third. Berry hit to short who fumbled and Lewis scored. Buchanan hit to short who again fumbled and Berry got second and scored on Fraser's fumbled hit to first and Fraser went second. Seaver went out on a hit to second. Norwich made five errors in this inning. Score 4 to 0.

In the third inning N. U. made one score, third and second being covered with two men out, a hit brought in Washburn from third and the next man was out on a hit to Berry. Goddard failed to score. Score 4 to 1.

Fourth inning. Columbus got first on a hit and third on Calderwood's two bag over left field fence, and securing on a fly to center field which was caught. Steele out on foul fly to Grant. Washburn made a home run over right field and Calderwood scored. A strike out closed the inning. Goddard did not score. Score 4 to 4.

Fifth inning. Norwich made two more scores on well placed hits and Morris forced in a run for Goddard. Score 5 to 6. Sixth inning. N. U. made one more score and Goddard failed.

Seventh inning. Chase scored for N. U. and Smith and Murray each made a score for Goddard. Score 7 to 8.

Eighth inning. Howard got second on a hit to Smith. Next man struck out. Howard came in on an error by Fraser and the side was retired. Berry struck out. Buchanan got first on a hit to short, who threw wild to first. Fraser made a three bagger over right fielder's head and Buchanan scored. Fraser came in on Seaver's sacrifice and tied the score for the second time during the game. Grant hit to center field who fumbled. Grant got second on Smith's hit to the left fielder who fumbled and Grant scored. Murray went out on a hit to third.

Ninth inning. Score 10 to 9. N. U. made two scores on a long drive over right field and Goddard went out in one, two, three order.

TO TOWN OF BARRE

Appraisal of City's Property in the
Town Settled For One Year
Saturday Evening.

The city and the town of Barre have finally come together on an appraisal of the city's property in the town, an agreement having been reached by the city council and the selectmen and listers of the town Saturday evening. By the compromise the city of Barre will pay taxes to the town on an appraisal of $9,500. At the same session of the city council W. F. Stevens resigned as fire alarm superintendent and Henry Hodgdon was appointed by Mayor Jackson and unanimously confirmed by the aldermen as his successor.

All the members were present with the exception of Alderman Duffy. A petition for laying granite chips on South Main street was read and referred to the street committee. A part of the street is already covered with stone chips.

The newly appointed patrolmen of the city presented a petition that they be equipped with uniforms, arms and other equipment by the city. It was referred to the mayor and the police committee to investigate and report back their recommendations.

H. E. Jeffords made application for a permit to hang a sign on Central place and a permit was granted.

Three resolutions were adopted, appropriating $350 to the surface sewer fund, $400 to the city court fund, and $400 to the dog account.

On the application of George Burgess for a permit to erect an addition on Depot Square for a boiler and engine house, Alderman Robbins reported there was no objection to granting the permit and the permit was granted, as was the application of the same person for a permit to use a steam engine and boiler at the same location.

The name of Henry Hodgdon was placed in nomination by mayor Jackson as superintendent of the fire alarm system to succeed W. F. Stevens and the appointment was confirmed by a vote of 5 to 0.

The matter of an agreement between the city and the town of Barre on the appraisal of the city's property in the town was called up by Alderman Currier for the city and Selectman Winch for the town. Each stated that it had interrogated its attorney.

The town was advised by its lawyer to settle if it can get a reasonable valuation. City Attorney Gordon had stated that, under the Newport decision, he considered the last offer made by the city as high.

Mr. Winch said that if the city's offer was to be the same or lower than previously made it would be simply a waste of breath to talk further. Mr. Winch said $10,000 was their limit.

After several attempts to get together, Alderman Currier, though the city would be willing to pay taxes on $9,500, to the town, and the selectmen of the town, after considering the proposition, reported that they would accept a list of $9,500.

The city council then took a formal vote on accepting the appraisal of $9,500 and the council voted unanimously to do so, and Clerk Mackay was authorized to make out an inventory to that amount.

Alderman McKenzie moved that Sheplee & Jones, the owners of the ruins on North Main street, be notified to remove the same as it was endangering the public health, and if they didn't within ten days the city would do so at their expense. The motion was carried.

Water Superintendent Campbell brought in a bill for the use of a team for three days.

Alderman Currier then took up the matter of removing the ruins of the fire at Sheplee & Jones and thought the matter should be referred to the board of health and that a recommendation should come from them. Alderman McKenzie then changed his motion that the board of health investigate and recommend the removal of the ruins and the motion was carried.
